Tetraphobia

Terrorize

by TheGhostOfOurHearts

The bus was empty. It was just me, being driven to Monsters University. The place where I have always wanted to go to get a scaring education. _This is it, I'm finally going to be scarer!_ I've stargazed, and envisioned this since I was 9 years old. The purple trees swayed as a soft breeze shook the atmosphere. Before I knew it the bus stopped at the entrance of Monsters University.

The concrete gate, the street, the buildings, and the shining sun, made the campus glimmer._I'm so glad I didn't go to Fear Tech._ This means I can't fantasize about this anymore. I took a step on the stone brick road, and inspected the new world around me. It was charming but there wasn't anyone in sight. I will admit, it has been a really quiet day. Gripping my luggage, I swerved to the register desk. I noticed more buses were approaching so I tried to do this as fast as I possibly could.

"Hey there freshman." a two-eyed slug yaped.

He looked a little too happy to be here. I mean, I think he'd be better off working at a sports stadium or just a store. Yeah, a store.

"Hey, uh, is it too early or late to register? Especially since nobody is... you know.. around." I implied politely.

"No, you came at the perfect, most opportune time to register!" The slug howled.

Seriously, I hope not all the staff here are like this, because I would consider myself serious. I just don't think I'll get 100% along with these types of people.

"Just go to Kay, and she'll take care of everything, all you need is the intent to learn."

He sounded exactly like a teacher. I mean at least all the other teachers had in Elementary and Middle school. I advanced to 'Kay' and greeted her.

"Hey I'm Kay, just drop your bags off here, and I'll send them to your dorm room. Also, here is your information pamphlet, now just go to Trey in here to get your picture taken and ID card. Have a great first day!"

Of Course! The staff here must be put on surveillance or something like in the movies because they are way too enthusiastic about registering new students. Again I roved into the building behind Kay and met Trey. Click A bright flash blinded me. It also made my eyes feel like I was looking at the sun, while pouring salt into my eyes. _I can't stop seeing purple, and not in a drug related way._

Other new students began to excitedly hop out of the buses and started to also register. At the same time the current students exited all there... well what I assume, classes._ Hopefully I'll be able to make some friends._

It wasn't until I entered the small dorm. I completely forgot that I was going to have a roommate. I mean unless I can somehow get into fraternity. Setting up my new bedroom, I gazed out the only window and saw the scaring school. It had a blue circular roof and white walls and columns. It must be the crown jewel of MU.

I finally was able to finish my setup after 15 minutes. At least I think it was 15 minutes. I sat down on my bed and picked up a picture frame. My parents and I were in this photo. I was only 6 when this was taken too. It was really cringy! When I put the picture frame down, the door creaked open like I was actually in a horror movie. I'dmit it pretty much was a horror movie, when I saw this beetle figure overlooking me.

"Oh, you must be Johnny. I'm Javier." Javier said introducing himself.

I honestly thought that was going to take a whole different turn. I will say that he was kind of dull. I say that because he was extremely calm and he spoke monotone.

"Hey. So I know this is abrupt but, what are you majoring in?" I asked.

His face said it all. The 'can you seriously not tell' face. I mean, I guess it was good to ask before Javier ended up asking the same thing.

"Scaring. I was told you were as well." Javier said calmly.

I just replied a 'yeah' and it kind of took off from there. A whole conversation on our lives occurred until somewhere around 8:30 at night. It wasn't that bad, at least it wasn't awkward the whole time we were in the dorm.

"Hey, I heard after class is over tomorrow, the Greek council, which is the frat and sorority councilers... I guess, are going to choose the monsters to get into Roar Omega Roar. It's the top fraternity on campus, but everyone in it graduated last year. We should try and join if we can." Javier implied after the conversation of high school, and how horrible it was.

"Yeah, sure I think it would cool to be known as, the best scarers at MU." I replied intrigued.

It was only a matter of time until I become the best of the best and work at Monsters University...or Fear Co. I can't decide, but first I have to get past my first day of scaring 101. That'll be one heck of a ride. Javier decided to go out and go shopping. Getting the general food, soda, and maybe beer. It's college, you have to party hard and live for once. I wanted to sleep, I've been up since 6:00 in the morning finishing up my packing, leaving my parents, which was pretty emotional, and registered. Hopefully my first day won't take a u-turn and make my reputation plummet. I pulled my blankets over my shoulder and shut my eyes to drift off into sleep. Even though I couldn't.

Johnny J. Worthington III, you are off to a great start!

:) Hope you enjoyed! Hope you'll want another chapter!
